End User Summary

Digital Serendipity™ that makes hybrid work sustainable, anywhere you are.

Problem

Too many scheduled meetings make it almost impossible to communicate with our coworkers. This is especially true after hybrid work became the new norm; today, our calendars get saturated and we are pushed to work overtime on the tasks that matter.

Ironically, the present solution to the problem is scheduling more meetings. It's a vicious cycle!

Our Solution

Tweelin, the world's first enterprise Digital Serendipity™ SaaS, facilitates impromptu 1:1 conversations at the right moment through the right channel. Tweelin eliminates the reliance on pre-scheduled 1:1 meetings, which currently make up 37% of all calendar events, and offers a conversation success rate of 88%, 4.4x higher than any regular call.

How It Works

Users "wish" to talk to coworkers; upon acceptance, Tweelin synergizes device telemetry and calendar availability to pinpoint the perfect time for an impromptu conversation, suggesting the best communication channel available on both users' active devices.

Product Availability

Available for Microsoft Teams, Android, iOS, Windows, and soon MacOS. Tweelin offers secure integration with corporate collaboration tools, including calendars and directories.

Customer Value

37% less calendar events - and related coordination costs - allow workers to increase their focus on the activities that matter during regular work hours and close the work day earlier, thus improving both productivity and work-life balance.

Are You Spying On Me?

No! Tweelin does not store any historical record of your computer or phone telemetry. It only keeps an updated snapshot to determine your availability, ensuring that your activities are not monitored or recorded over time.
